Ten of Clubs:

Imaginative Proficiency

Characteristics: An independent character is the nature of the Ten of Clubs. They behave as if they are a King or Queen, regardless of their gender. All of them want total and unfettered freedom to do what they choose at the time they choose it. Ten of Clubs women have masculine mentalities and characters. Coming full circle, the Ten of Clubs finally arrives at knowledge. They are still driven in a quest for more knowledge that makes them highly successful and strengthens their already powerful minds. In a profound twist, their mind is so strong they must determine how to get back the control of it, because it has developed almost a life of its own. Loss of sleep is even sometimes possible for them because their minds refuse to quiet down. Inspiring groups and individuals can come into their lives via spiritual wisdom and interest in spiritual philosophies. It will increase their quality of life. Work that is most fulfilling will result from that which allows them freedom of expression and creativity. Deciding which way to go or what it is that will truly fulfill them is their greatest challenge. Higher principles, hard work and honest motives can guide them in a return to self-mastery. Staying busy and working hard are things they must do. There is an emotional restlessness in their souls because the Three of Hearts is indecisiveness in terms of their choice of vocations. This can be a difficult pressure on relationships and restrain them from attaining their highest goals. They will try many fields of work to find out what truly satisfies them. The Three of Hearts challenge card also tells us this very clearly. Either a blessing or curse comes from the Jack of Clubs Karma Card. It depends on how it is revealed by them. Indirectly, it is the card of the Thief and the Spiritual Initiate or the Actor. Consequently there is a potential for fame in the arts, or heavy interest in spiritual subjects and study. Unfortunately using their gifts in a dishonest way is also possible.

Relationships: Frequently a satisfactory marriage means that they work while their spouse manages the domestic responsibilities. The ones that do find satisfaction in marriage manage to maintain their careers while their husbands or wives take care of the domestic responsibilities. There are emotional difficulties for the female Ten of Clubs, due to the Queen of Clubs in their Saturn position of their Life Path, making it difficult to develop any true intimacy with their partners. Their willful nature, together with their very independent spirit, often excludes marriage and meaningful relationships. Often the Ten of Clubs cannot pay attention for long in personal relationships. Frequent change and a desire for variety are things they lean toward. There is a bit of difficulty in maintaining a long-term relationship because they are so independent, strong and creative. Shirley MacLaine, Madonna as well as Barbara Streisand are excellent examples of the Ten of Clubs. For some, it might just be better to remain single in order to realize their success. Unquestionably though, there is a deep thirst for love, and love has a kind of truth about it that they must deal with. Union of one kind or another is what Love always wants more of and this includes intimacy, which brings more pleasure. Because of this, there is the challenge of commitment for everyone including the Ten of Clubs. A strong reluctance to make a choice is either a part of them or of the partner. Most Ten of Clubs, regardless of their gender, have such a powerful vocational motivation that few sacrifice this in the name of a personal relationship.

Personality Connections: Other Club women and Ten of Clubs females do not get along. Most Heart men and Ten of Clubs females have difficulty, although Diamond males get blessings from these individuals. There is an attraction to powerful men of high standing for Ten of Clubs women, especially men who are Spades. Women of their own suit should be avoided by the men because there is a strong likelihood of a great price or burden.

Confrontations: There are characteristics about the Ten of Clubs that mean they have an additional restlessness. For example, the Three of Hearts is in Mars and the Three of Hearts is a Pluto Card. Furthermore, their card resides in the Crown Line of the Grand Solar. Both in their romantic life and their vocational ambitions, most Ten of Clubs individuals have a restlessness about them. Tens, it may be recalled, are much like Aces with the Ace being a One and the Ten being a One with a Zero.
