Ten of Spades:

Striving Accomplishment

Characteristics: The Ten of Spades spiritual essence can provide the option to go beyond materialism. A fear of being poor can lead to difficulties in making up their minds about love, which can introduce problems in marriage. They can cause a lot of problems in their personal situation if they abuse the power they have been given. On the other hand, unattached spiritual love is available to these individuals. Seeing their higher aspects in the area of direction and guidance, they can have anything they desire. There can be a tendency in the direction of addictive behavior due to both Karma Cards residing in the Neptune line of the Life Cards. Materialistic and compulsive worker types are often found among Ten of Spades people. Suffering in their home life always results and this is painful because home and family are very significant in their case. Many will have battles between these two fundamental desires. This largely depends on their individual concentration in life. Pursuing a profession is particularly difficult for Ten of Spades who have trouble keeping a satisfying family life while working. Dramatic ups and downs are possible for some. Learning the value of releasing personal attachments to concepts and personal styles is what the Ten of Spades was intended to learn in this life. They have a life experiencing the heights of spiritual knowledge and wisdom, which is a part of their fate, if they meet this challenge. Such individuals can master their fate and go soaring to heights helping other people, because there are a great deal of spiritual aspects in their life path making this possible. They can be blinded to their ascent, however, and limit their growth potential because there is also an attraction to material gains. There is a natural move toward doing everything all out and therefore you find a personality that frequently overdoes things, both good and bad. They experience events to their fullest and learn a great deal this way.

Relationships: A later point in life is usually the time that fulfillment is most possible. Before they can go ahead with such a significant commitment they need to get answers to a great many questions. There is no reason they cannot have a good married life because their fundamental karma in term of love is excellent. They must only find a means to adjust wanting family life with their basic intensity and ambitious being, because they are very giving and loving. They are both strongly devoted to work as well as family, and this card often has inner conflicts pertaining to these two parts of life. They can become uncertain in love, which can bring about problems resulting from their ambitious and creative natures. They do not do well with the financial matters that are usually involved with separations. Their proximity with Venus reveals some uncertainty relative to the romantic side of life and they must deal with it before a successful, meaningful relationship is brought about. They continually have partners who are unable to make a commitment and, in addition they are often not sure of what they actually want in romance. Change and up and down periods in love are the results regardless.

Personality Connections: On the level of romance, other Spade men are also fine for Ten of Spade women. Heart men are a weakness for the Ten of Spades women and have good emotional connections with Diamond men. Generally speaking, the women Club cards and Ten of Spades men can make good marriages.

Confrontations: The 4th house in astrology is the residence of security, emotions and nourishment, while the 10th house sits exactly opposite. It is peculiar that the two main cards for marriage and family life have such strong internal relationships with the Ten of Spades. The Ten of Spades, having dual Heart cards for their Karma Cards, the Four and the Queen, is totally work oriented and driven for success. Being closely related to family and home, these cards are somewhat opposites of the Ten of Spades. Big ambitions in careers are often a part of Ten of Spades. The 10th house is motivated for success and recognition because as the Ten of Tens they personify the Capricorn. Many of them reach their desires due to being very practical and motivated pertaining to their drive for success. Their need for a home with love and family is the single thing that can stop this determined drive for recognition. That extraordinary radical opposite tendencies resides within the personality of a single person is fascinating.
