

Birthday Card

Two of Diamonds:

Entrepreneur

Characteristics: With their closest relationships this ambition is no problem, because it keeps them from difficulties. They will find a way for them that is interesting and provides rewards if they tap into their inner mind. They do well in a single business by setting it up themselves and sticking with it. In the deck, this is a highly successful card. Any blame is there for not being happy and productive. The Two of Diamonds will consistently be shown the right path to proceed on and, if permitted, has a natural intuition for that. Built into this is a lofty set of values and that frequently includes a mission in life which every time involves partners and other people as part of it. There frequently is a monetary motivation and a bit of ambition that motivates them. Because they love business and finance deeply, they are the wheeler-dealer card, especially with friends and partners. Rather than work alone, this card usually chooses to work with others in a partnership. The Two of Diamonds has a mind that is quick at categorizing and evaluating, because the Two is the logical number. They can move toward working with computers and are good at it. The Two of Diamonds can lose that and their capable mind and lean toward becoming pessimistic and argumentative if they are emotionally unfulfilled. This is a very fortunate card in terms of money. They can live to 100 if they take care of themselves. Making deals and mixing with others is their first love. They bring a message of light. Two of Diamonds have something that takes them to a higher knowledge of some kind and they have a special purpose. Especially beginning in middle age, most of them have high incomes. Caution should be used pertaining to social obligations so as not to tax their health and wellbeing, even though they are blessed. They do not take care of themselves if they are too compulsive about money. In later life, real estate is a good source of money.

Relationships: A Two of Diamonds male will avoid divorce at all costs, but in a marriage that is emotionally trying, they will frequently have affairs, even numerous ones. Before marrying a conviction that it is forever is something they all should examine for its truth. Because they are so involved in the cerebral side of things their Ace of Diamond Pluto Card shows a strong, but often unrevealed, craving for affection that can go unseen or unfelt. The Two of Diamonds has fixed and strong feelings in romance terms; views and values about love that are excellent in most ways. For romantic and emotional wellbeing, however, this is their greatest obstacle. Love and marriage are more than their fixed ideas about them and this is something many of them must learn. Because of these fixed principles, once starting a relationship, good or bad, they are often there to stay. Even if happiness is not there this can make them stick around. They can become bitter and prone to negativity resulting in the mean side of this card coming out. At the heart of most of their relationship issues and problems is this inner need for affection and self-respect. This serves them so well in their careers, but can be a stumbling block to success in personal relationships, because it inhibits their ability to feel. This inhibition can be overcome and they can learn to communicate the intimate feelings that are necessary for a healthy relationship with work. A very intellectual person is usually found in the Two of Diamonds.

Personality Connections: A Spade man is a good marriage for a Two of Diamond woman. Many Diamond women friends are common with both genders. Women of the Hearts suit are better with Two of Diamond men.

Confrontations: It is clear that these two Aces are important if we examine the life spreads of Two of Diamonds people. Romance is a significant pattern with the Two of Diamonds and Ace of Diamonds. This pattern comes from the two Aces standing right beside each other in the Life Spread in both cases.
