Four of Clubs:

Psychic Contentment

Characteristics: The Four of Clubs want to be accepted by people as the result of their motivation and drive. But, in addition the Fours of Clubs hides their desire to accept themselves behind wanting acceptance from others. Work can, for some, take the place of the desire to be loved. Financial success and protection often arrive for them late in life. This card shows that happiness and success can be applied to what we already have. It means they are practical. An invisible restlessness can reveal itself in several fashions even though the Four of Clubs is a stable card in general. This is because of the underlying Five of Hearts. It is possible for them to use their progressive approach to initiate new ideas in the field instead of allowing something to block success. They are not likely to change their minds because they are confident in their own knowledge. Frequently they are thought of as stubborn. They generally win in arguments, which they enjoy and also are good at legal issues. Hard work does not bother them because of their excellent health and stamina. They are successful and particularly excellent at sales because of the ease, which they talk with other people. They also like to talk about their beliefs. If they do not let their love of debating get the best of them, they are popular and do fine with groups of people. Their reputations are generally stellar, but they also desire a successful love life and this is their biggest challenge in life.

Relationships: Their basic karma in love is good. A partner who enjoys some space can help provide happiness. Venus informs us that they must be cautious about their choice of peers because they might seek out those of ill repute. Dishonest, but romantic, lovers result from choosing this lower aspect and they will attract those of similar values. Questionable associates are often artistic types, who they are frequently attracted to. On the high side, they can also seek out those of a spiritual nature and have relationships that are more satisfying. A significant issue in their lives is their desire for affection. This can reveal itself several ways. Unfortunately, painful relationships can come about if this need is mixed with their restlessness and fear of commitment. However, this does not apply to them all.

Personality Connections: Club women are a weakness for men Four of Clubs, as are Spade females. This is particularly the case if they are under 24 years old. Fast friends are made with Spade men and women Four of Clubs, but Diamond and Heart men see the Four of Clubs female as particularly appealing. There is a big challenge with other Club men.

Confrontations: Happily married people as well should be careful of their mates. Cases of deception and infidelity are common and, in some cases, this is very long lasting. They can be quite clever in their deceptions, such that no one suspects it. There is great potential for using their assets in negative ways and being liars and manipulators. The Jack of Clubs shows us that the Four of Clubs can behave dishonestly in the romantic life, attract others or a combination of both. Possible negatives are lying about their real intentions in order to get sexual pleasure or money. Sometimes they simply do not mean what they say. In the Venus place the Four of Clubs indicates that the Jack of Clubs is set up to have relationships with dishonest and immoral individuals. The actor and the thief is what they represent. Consequently, Four of Clubs people can be with musicians, actors, artists, in addition to those with dubious values and belief systems.
