

Birthdays Card

Four of Spades:

Bliss in Labor

Characteristics: The Four of Spades has the right to be stubborn and they most certainly are. They must live by truths they discover, but fortunately the Karma card provides ample knowledge. Being restrained in any manner is something they hate. They are intuitive and intelligent, as well as liked by others, thanks to Venus. They seem to attract friends with money, but they themselves should resist the temptation to emphasize money regarding their choice of associates or lovers. Their health should be taken care of by natural means, but they normally have good health. Gratification through work is symbolized by the Four of Spades. If we consider all the cards in the deck, this one is the most substantial. A square or even a boulder comes to mind relative to these individuals. They are reliable and are there for you when needed. They work hard and always maintain their balance. In regard to finances and success, they have one of the luckiest life paths and most often enjoy their work. However, some can interfere with their success if they are not careful. Their Saturn card informs us that even though they are lucky, they often worry about finances anyway. At social activities, they make excellent communicators or lecturers because Mercury usually allows them immediate credence. The literary arts are ideal for them and they can be well-known writers, promoters or even performers. They provide their own true peace and meaning in life because they are a worker card. To find satisfaction they will frequently align themselves with a humanitarian cause. Traveling the world and thus fulfilling a dream that has been postponed until the later years, is something they usually did not get enough of when they were young.

Relationships: While they can be difficult and even stubborn, the Four of Spades will normally give you anything because of their extraordinary generosity. They need to be careful though, because they are attracted to those with money and can get wrapped up in trying to keep up with the Joneses in their relationships. Confusion and fears about finances will frequently cause too much stress in their romantic life. Their karma for marriage is better than most and they particularly appreciate someone who can travel with them. Business and personal relationships are usually not wise to mix, nor are money and pleasure.

Personality Connections: Diamond females are good friends for the Four of Spades. Fours of Spades of both genders find males of the Clubs suit a problem and therefore caution is required. There is a unique fascination for Diamond males, and Spade males and Four of Spades women find them very good looking.

Confrontations: There is a desire for money related to the Four of Spades, or the fear of not having it, and this is an area of difficulty. It is usually unconscious in most cases, but is a deep-seated fear. If they want to liberate themselves from a life of difficulty, they need to deal with this because it is one of the most important driving forces in their existence. Fear that necessities and resources will not be there when we need them comes from Saturn. Our entire life could be wasted trying to fill emptiness if we are not conscious of such feelings and cannot see them for what they are. Being a workaholic is a common characteristic for Four of Spades people. There are other cards that have this dynamic, but for the Four of Diamonds this quality can often be the result of a deep need to have material security. There is a strong drive for a secure life as well as a materialism that is sometimes a cause of a serious and sometimes arrogant exterior to a Four of Spades. The Four of Spades might be the most security-conscious of all the Fours. Having all their basic needs provided for is the wish of Fours. Security in their work is always a goal and consequently they are wonderful workers whose life is improved by working. Four of Spades people are more motivated than other cards in the deck because there is an important point in that regard. That point is the relationship of Saturn's position in their Life Path. An area where things in our life are difficult is often related to the card we have in Saturn. Things that are almost impossible to fulfill are represented.