Characteristics: Caution and responsibility are needed for the Eight of Hearts because of a power in love. Actually, all Eights need to be careful here. Some become addicted to the power they have because they are supreme in the areas of charm and magnetism. If used unwisely at the expense of others they can hurt them. Sevens are both karma cards of the Eight of Hearts. This tells us that they have a great deal of spiritual knowledge that helps lead their actions. Unfortunately, they will see almost instant results when they abuse their power over others. They realize that they can go to great heights if they follow the truth and share their love and healing with other. Because they can really give people the love that is necessary for healing themselves, this is seen as the healer's card. Many will become well-known teachers, artists, statesmen and performers. The Ten, Eight and King are in their Life Paths and all are in the Crown Line. They will lead very lucky lives. They have superior potential for being recognized and being successful. There will be obstacles in the area of health unless the Eight of Hearts is attentive to it. Their work and relations will be neglected and their bodies pushed to the point of breaking down if they are not careful. Neglecting this will bring about the first Karma Card demanding payment in full. You would believe that they would just relax and enjoy such a good life since things go so well for them. However, they frequently go at such a fast pace that they end up physically ill. Exactly eight, it is interesting to note, is often the number of their immediate family or close friends. Eight Hearts represent the people that they love. Eight can come up with eight children, eight spouses, eight pets or other things. In any occupation where a good mind will make a difference, and they have great minds, they can be exceptional. They do not have to worry about money, but they will work hard for that which they make. Many Eight of Hearts will become famous in their lifetime. This is particularly true after the age of 36 when their power and achievements increase. Unless it is motivated by fear they are powerful and can succeed at anything.

Relationships: They need, in some sense, to be good administrators because of the power they have. They have the charm and attractiveness to get what they desire and they do go after who they want as well. As a result, they can be playboys and playgirls. The Eight of Hearts woman must be aware of their actions and at least realize that some men would prefer a woman who is not so forceful. The fastest karmic rebounds come to them more than any other cards. Maturity and wisdom must be in place if their power is to bring about true happiness. Making others know they are loved also makes them feel they are special. They usually retain the upper hand in all of their relationships. They generally keep the upper hand in their relationships because they are less needy than most and consequently find it difficult to maintain one. If they feel uncomfortable, they usually just move on to another one. Aggression can be present. Some suitors of Eight of Hearts women are often scared away by their aggression.

Personality Connections: The Heart suit attracts men Eight of Hearts and they are usually compatible, other than Jacks, who can be a problem for them. In general Eight of Hearts are found difficult by Club men, especially the women. They are liked by Diamond men.

Confrontations: In the emotional arena, being an Eight of Hearts allows a person a lot of power. They can easily acquire what they want from most individuals in their life, with such power. They are really able to practically blast someone with this power by giving them attention and sometimes flattery. If they choose to, they can make a person feel like the most admired and desirable person on the face of the earth. This is a powerful tool and they can use it in any way they choose. There are many celebrities and others with this power among the Eight of Hearts, of course, but a look at the powerful and famous will show a great many of them. Joe DiMaggio, John F. Kennedy Jr. and Richard Gere are all Eight of Hearts.
