Jack of Diamonds: Seller

Characteristics: Intelligent and shrewd, Jack of Diamonds people are consistently able to make an excellent living using their humor and a charming personality. The Jack of Diamonds therefore represents the salesperson's card. Their creativity and independence allows them to operate from instinct as well as their quick and creative minds. Not many listen to the call of their highest ideals and evolve into the King standing close to them. They consistently get by using their inherited financial wisdom. All Jacks are rigid in their minds and this often stops them from discovering the intuition that is one of their higher gifts. Spiritual realization comes from a natural psychic ability. Some Jacks of Diamond, however become professional psychics, but others fear opening up their psychic channel. Regardless, most of them come to use their abilities in later years. The Jack of Diamonds has a unique ability to persuade others. They are skilled in the entertainment or healing fields. Many are inclined to be artists and some are especially talented. They are unexcelled in the sales area. They are capable almost anything. Therefore, this is one cause for so many moving toward sales and promotion as a career. Because of their great creativity they get distracted and while they usually mean well, they do not come through on their promises. Jacks in general, are capable of being both immature and a bit deceitful. They enjoy playing and, even when old, retain a youthfulness. They need to find a vocation that gives them an outlet for being creative and recognition for their superior abilities. They are very social and this makes them the best salespeople of all the cards. They can have a lot of success in a field that puts them in front of groups as well as individuals. It is possible for all Jack of Diamonds to lead their entire life just playing around and enjoying themselves. However, they often want to be humanitarians. Since they are a Uranus/Neptune card, the Jack of Diamonds like to keep as many options open in their profession and in their life as possible. Freedom (Uranus) means a great deal to them and it is seen as almost sacred (Neptune). They will generally want something in self-employment or occupations allowing freedom and the option of setting their own work schedule.

Relationships: There is an idealized concept of their own freedom in the Jack of Diamonds. Making a commitment in a relationship is frequently difficult for them. They perceive the word freedom in such a special way such that, whether they admit it or not, it is a strong force keeping them out of permanent commitments. They usually attribute this to their high ideals of personal freedom and independence, but the fact is that often they are truly afraid of the price of real commitment. They usually get their way, but their own indecision and need of freedom often wins out. Being so creative can also make a Jack of Diamonds a playboy or playgirl. However it is possible for them to have a good relationship once they decide on that and are ready to settle down. They are in the Neptune lineage and each follows the Jack of Diamonds Life Path (from their Mercury to Neptune Card). They have the most dreamy love card of all, the Queen of Hearts, as their Neptune Card. They have a very idealistic view about love because of so much Neptune energy relating to their love life. It is possible for them to be the ideal lover or mate. They are often creative with their romantic fantasies but suffer a lot when people do not match the wonderful potential the Jack of Diamonds perceives in them.

Personality Connections: Male Clubs find the female Jack of Diamonds very appealing, although sometimes very difficult. Male Jack of Diamonds fantasizes about female Heart cards.

Confrontations: July 4th is a Jack of Diamonds and, as mentioned, this is often referred to as the salesman's card. Jack of Diamonds people are usually gifted in promoting what they believe in and many have had a great deal of success in sales. Being irresponsible and crafty, on the other hand, are qualities of some. When we look at our country from this point of view, it reveals a great deal pertaining to us both as a culture and as a political body. This is interesting because people usually do not think of their country as having a sun sign or Birth Card.
