Queen of Diamonds:

Benefactor

Characteristics: In the case of the Queen of Diamonds, values are a wellspring of indecisiveness. What happens as a result of this, for example, is having problems deciding what is wanted the most. The Queen of Diamonds has a taste limited to the very best. Shopping for them means buying only high quality at a high price. Behaving like this and having such values only exacerbates their financial worries. Even though they are fearful, they are extremely giving. The mixture of the Nine in Jupiter and Nine of Diamonds as second Karma Card, brings about a natural aptitude toward release and a natural instinct to share their wealth. They are like the grandparent who goes shopping for some new clothes for you and expensive birthday presents. Their asset of creativity can be blocked if they are too worried about money and, unfortunately, this is not unusual. They are capable, if they choose a spiritual path, of having a special mission and reaching the heights of self-understanding and spiritual awareness. Spiritually, they are tied to a lot of the ancient sciences. There is a natural interest in the ancient secret mysteries of knowledge. This initiates studying infinite truths, and, in turn, helps remove a number of ordinary problems. The heights they can reach are unlimited if they dedicate themselves to higher goals. The Queens of Diamonds boasts some of the world's richest people. The best that life has to offer appeals to them. Charm is exuded by the Queen of Diamonds. Challenge is what they seek and at times relationships too. A business mind is inborn in the Queen of Diamonds and they have an excellent ability for promotion of products or services. They make good leaders and are superb in many fields. Nurturing, of course, is part of a Queens's character. They help others in their work as well as their lives. They have an ability to plan and analyze very well and are naturally critical. Seeing through the deceit of others is something they are blessed with. It is a natural ability. Such a mind, by the same token, can be negatively oriented when things do not come out as planned. They can be quite critical of others and very negative. Pessimism is also sometimes a part of their makeup even though they usually do not know it. For a balance in character, a positive attitude is something they must work on.

Relationships: Relative to the aspect of love, as pointed out, the Queen of Diamonds has major difficult challenges. Starting new relationship is very easy because they are very charismatic and charming. Keeping a relationship going seem to be the difficult part for them. They need to learn that they will have to live with the consequences of their actions because they usually get what they want. They can be fearful of being abandoned, be stubborn and proud, as well as like variety. A troubling combination can result with the power to get what they desire when they want it. Even when they seem happily settled down, it usually does not last long and several marriages are very possible for them.

Personality Connections: Difficulties arise with most Heart men as well. An awareness of these personality issues is important. Queen of Diamonds men have fantasies about Spade women. Female Queen of Diamonds are usually passionate for Club males.

Confrontations: Perhaps because of the Three residing in Venus, many Queens of Diamonds have three or more marriages. Clearly, there are some who have only been married once, or who never get married at all, but this is an interesting scenario that happens very often with this Birth Card. If we look at the Queen of Diamond's Life Path, we see that there is a trinity of very important Threes in it. The first is their Three of Diamonds Karma Card that symbolizes the fundamental uncertainty they maintain about what is the most important part of their lives. Following that is the Venus Card, which is the Three. Finally, the third is their Mars Card, which is the Three. Due to the fact that the cards found here, more than any others, reflect something about our fundamental being in the world, Venus and Mars are frequently called personal planets. The numbers of cards often have a more profound importance than we think at first. For instance, a lot of Eight individuals have eight children, or, perhaps, they have eight special persons in their life; people that make up their inner circle of loved ones.
