

Birthday Cards

Queen of Hearts

Caring Matriarch

Characteristics: The Queen of Hearts has its dose of idealism because it is the double Neptune card. There is a special charm and charisma that attracts others that every one of these individuals has. They share this motherly love with everyone they meet and are, in this sense, a maternal card. Queen of Hearts either go into some white collar career or get married and devote their life to their family. Regardless of their gender, they have an above average ability to be a success in numerous professions, and there is particularly good fortune in professions that are mostly male. A great deal of them will have a lot of success throughout their life as we can see by their King in Mars which is a a terrifically strong card. The role as mother or father is taken seriously by both genders. Some of them are more devoted to their children than their spouses are. There is a sweetness as well as attractiveness about such people who are fundamentally loving and sociable. They all have a taste for the arts and aesthetics, making them successful in these fields in many cases. There is a lot of psychic and even musical aptitude and some of them make use of this as well. They are able to live a life of love and care that is part of their being as long as they have an idealism guided by truth. This card can be seen as the loving mother card. The more love they can share the better and this is their calling in life: to love others. They can over indulge themselves, be lazy, air-headed and basically hedonistic if they are operating on a lower level. Enjoyment of the senses and exciting experiences is what this card is about. If they turn to their higher ideals and leave behind laziness and boredom, there is no limit to the heights they can reach in their work and career. The Queen of Hearts includes many co-dependents and people escaping through alcohol or other means.

Relationships: Power and finances are what attracts Queen of Hearts individuals. In the deck there is a sense in which they are the darlings. They are the women of all men's dreams. Aphrodite is symbolized by the Queen of Hearts woman. The perfect wife or lover, she naturally has all the feminine qualities a woman can have. They are the ideal of love, have charm and dedication to their families. We think twice before ever criticizing them and there is a fun loving innocence in their personality. Occasionally they attract someone that brings them a heavy dose of reality regarding their lofty ideals. They fall, but from varying heights. Charm and grace are found in the men as well. Frequently they become stay-at-home dads who watch the children while their spouse is the breadwinner. Sensitivity is more common in them than most men. On occasions, they are attracted to an individual that is unfaithful, but they can play the field exceptionally well. People that have power and financially successful attract both genders and many of them marry individuals like this. A certain awareness of the feelings of others sometimes results from charm turning toward the self.

Personality Connections: Club women are friends with both genders, but the men Queen of Hearts find Club women somewhat unpredictable and hard to comprehend. Powerful men, especially the Spade suit, attract the Queen of Hearts woman. Queen women attract Diamond men and Club men find them very difficult.

Confrontations: Sexuality, romance and mothering are the realms the Queen of Hearts. On the other hand, there can be someone who is too idealistic as well as overly sensuous. Occasionally, there is one that is too easy going and lazy. What appears to be laziness though, can also be seen as a relaxed view of life and a person who enjoys luxuries and comfort. Frequently, both genders are both charming as well as attractive.
