

Chinese and Western Combinations

Aquarius (Tiger) Month

Combination with Horse Year:

---

"Understood" Uranus, Air, Fixed

"Command" Yang-Positive Fire

Characteristics: Accomplishment, Pragmatism, Individuality, Cruelty, Thoughtlessness, Dexterity, Independence, Anxiety, Originality, Style, Tolerance, Disobedience, Popularity, Rebellion, Haste, Autonomy, Charity, Neurosis, Separateness, Unscrupulousness, Vision, Persuasiveness, Eccentricity, Selfishness

This combination is gifted and probably also headed toward success. There is a craving for novelty and originality. After a thorough mixing of these elements, the result is an unconventional and mobile individual. The Aquarius-Horse is quick and does not stay inactive for long. This combination is a bit of a rebel thanks to the Horse. The Aquarius nature brings energy and an alert and watchful character to the table. This Horse probably pushes more than it pulls and the direction it wants to go are places with diversity. Part of the nature of the Aquarius-Horse is an uncanny and highly creative ability with everything involving manual skills. An almost awe-inspiring genius in the area of dexterity rests firmly and literally in the hands of the Aquarius-Horse. Beauty is near the top of the list of things that this person finds meaningful and they care deeply about the universe and nature. They work for what they care about and what they believe in, no matter how unusual others may think the cause is. This combination has skills with no limit in this department. Continuing with the oddness of this character is the fact that they are also gifted with language. Their verbal skills are almost as good as their manual skills. There is a strong likelihood that they will be able to speak several languages because of their superior aptitude. The Aquarius-Horse loves to travel and experience exotic places and cultures. They end up being multi-cultural as well as multilingual.

Romance: A partner to the Aquarius-Horse has to be flexible and understanding. They do not like problems and they hate drama. The home life, financial life and sexual life of any relationship is entirely up to them. If this is not understood and accepted this combination will simply find someone else and that will be the end of the show. The Aquarius-Horse expects to be the boss in any relationship and they believe this because they know the truth and they know what is right. What they do, in their minds, is enough and no more should be asked for or even desired.

Relationships: Definitely wrong choices are Taurus, Leo and Scorpio-Rats. Also out of the question are Leo-Monkeys. Fine selections, based on intelligence and stability, are Gemini and Sagittarius-Dogs. The Libra-Ram, while somewhat needy, is appealing to the Aquarius-Horse for that very reason. Reasonably good picks are Sagittarius-Tigers especially for the second time around.

Family Life: This combination's home blasts people with a cannon of color. The personal dress of this individual is ostentatious and loaded with confidence. From blue suede shoes to top hats, this combination has a psychedelic taste that shows they are totally free. The Aquarius-Horse is a good parent but that is not to say they are overly fond of children in general. The idea concerns them relative to their personal liberty. They are movers; literally moving house often. If they do have children, however, they totally devote themselves to parenthood. They are so into it that they can become a bore that has little to say not relating to their offspring. The home of the Aquarius-Horse is of the Ripley's Believe it or Not school of decorating. Perhaps a nomadic hoarder designed it. Whatever it is, it is highly unusual and consists of a myriad of objects collected from around the globe.

Likelihood: This individual is often bright enough to turn their unusual interests and weird character into assets and earn money while being relatively free. They might, for example, be talented at photography. In the unlikely event that they end up as a supervisor, they are not one who leads by example because they want their freedom and their own time. Those working for them, on the other hand, will be expected to work their fingers to the bone. Oddly, in spite of being a marginal character in the area of employment, the Aquarius-Horse has an ample income and sometimes more than ample. They are not particularly interested in finances beyond knowing that money is useful and they need it; especially if they want to travel to exotic places and be involved in lavish projects.

Famous Aquarius/Horses: Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jack Benny, Claire Bloom.