"Cultivator" Yin-Negative Water

Characteristics: Boarheadedness, Honesty, Drive, Talent, Hesitation, Materialism, Voluptuousness, Culture, Domination, Scrupulousness, Credulity, Gourmandize, Gallantry, Willfulness, Wrath, Sincerity, Excess, Sanctimony, Affability, Enterprise, Naiveté, Courage, Ostentation, Heartiness

This combination is virtually selfless and to be their friend is an honor as well as a joy. The Aries-Boar is probably the kindest person on the planet. If something needs doing, they are there to do it or to help others do it. They volunteer for everything and assist their friends in every possible way from babysitting to moving house. They are the ones who stay after Thanksgiving dinner and help with the dishes and who take the kids to the county fair. Obviously, this makes them extremely popular individuals. Their gifts run across the spectrum to include artistic and musical ability. Their lives are not always blessed with good fortune and they give far more than they receive in that department. If you have an Aries-Boar among your family or friend, you are truly blessed. If you need a volunteer or someone to head a committee, seek out someone from this combination and they will surely agree. They are totally trustworthy. Combine this with the fact that they have superior organizational skills and you have someone capable of easily being elected to the school board or even state senate. And they will probably set a record for the youngest person ever elected to the position. They have pleasant personalities and enjoy entertaining others and doing things with their family.

Romance: This combination clings to a belief that they can fix anything, including broken relationships or serious issues pertaining to communication or other important parts of a relationship. Without caution, the end result can be not only frustration, but also failure in the area of romance. Romance is not always smooth sailing for this combination. For starters, the Aries-Boar makes friends with everyone beginning when they are just a young child. The distinct possibility here is that there will be an early marriage; not always the best of all possible worlds.

Relationships: In this combination the Cancer-Monkeys, Dogs or Horses are not a good choice. Avoid Libra-Roosters or Capricorn-Tigers or Roosters. Do not be fooled by Libra-Tigers. Good choices in the realm of romance are Gemini or Leo-Dragons and Rabbits. Sagittarius-Rabbits and Aquarius-Rabbits and Dragons are also good. On the other hand, Snakes are not good for Boars.

Family Life: This combination creates dependent people in their own home and can create dependent people in the extended family such that they are unable to function on their own. Furthermore, it is possible that any effort to establish independence, including children as they grow up, will be seen as betrayal. Because for the Aries-Boar the family is such an important part of their being, any attempts to disrupt patterns will not be appreciated. The be all and end all of life for the Aries-Boar is the family; and that means the entire extended family. The primary concern and care of this combination is, of course, the spouse and children, but it goes beyond that to parents, uncles, cousins, nephews and nieces. This love, care and concern is not all positive because it creates neediness on the part of both parties.

Likelihood: This combination is so ready to take on projects that there can be, at times, issues about following things through to completion, but generally this is not a big problem. The aptitude of this combination combined with the go-getter spirit, translates into fine career opportunities. They are the first choice on any boss's team because of their abilities and flexibility. Another significant aspect of the Aries-Boar's being is projects. This can be viewed as them projecting themselves into the future. As a result there is very little they do not like in terms of business, creativity or management.

Famous Aries/Boar: Tennessee Williams, Bismarck, Dudley Moore.
