

Chinese and Western Combinations

Capricorn (Buffalo) Month

Combination with Boar Year:

"Utilize" Saturn, Earth, Cardinal

"Cultivator" Yin-Negative Water

Characteristics: Dependability, Honesty, Self-Doubt, Boarheadedness, Epicureanism, Culture, Materialism, Superiority, Gourmandism, Generosity, Loneliness, Sincerity, Hesitation, Voluptuousness, Gallantry, Wrath, Wisdom, Clumsiness, Ambition, Pretension, Resolve, Scrupulousness, Stiffness, Credulity

The Capricorn-Boar rides noble steeds and tucks one hand into their shirt knowing that there will be no Waterloo for them. Interestingly though, they have a somehow innocent ambition even though it is firm. The Capricorn-Boar shoots for the stars and they usually make it. This dialectic is gifted to the maximum and they have a goal and drive that leave others eating their dust. They have always seen themselves as rich, famous, talented, intelligent, and the leader of every dimension, including those as yet undiscovered. They have egos to match the globe and those are just the ones with limited vision; most Capricorn-Boars have even bigger visions. There has probably never been in the annals of history a Capricorn-Boar that had an inferiority complex. The Capricorn-Boar takes care of those they love. They join the right organizations and pay their dues on time. They give time and money to the right charities. This combination earns a fair bit of respect because of their deeds and their loyalty. They are respectable citizens in the community and it would be hard for anyone to criticize them because, in spite of their ambition, they play fair. They are shamelessly ambitious and write it off as healthy because it entails the power of positive thinking. Dale Carnegie probably did not have that in mind, but the Capricorn-Boar does. This combination is law abiding because of the Boar influence. They are always aware of every section of the civil code.

Romance: To be in a relationship with this combination can, at times, be challenging. They are, however, great to spend time with. They are overprotective not just of their spouses but also of course their children. They do not like others to influence those they love. They are even jealous of their friends who have interests other than them. The Capricorn-Boar loves and loves deeply. They are also very romantic. They are generous with their loved ones and very dedicated. No one could ask for a more affectionate partner. All of this paints a good picture and the picture is true and realistic. There are some things that need to be said, however, as is often the case when things appear so rosy. Perhaps as an offshoot of their ambition, the Capricorn-Boar is extremely possessive. They are too kind to describe their partners as property, but that is the way they often behave. At the very minimum they can be stifling to their lover and essentially give them no room. Among the things that come about in this department are an enormous green monster that is hugely jealous. Fits of rage are possible dramatic scenes fit for a soap opera for a tabloid can result.

Relationships: For compatibility the not recommended category includes Cancer or Libra-Snakes. Finally, bringing up the rear in poor choices, are Aries and Cancer-Horses. Almost a sure fire choice in the area of love are Taurus, Leo, Virgo, Scorpio or Pisces-Rabbits. There is a mutual attraction between the Capricorn-Boar and the Taurus-Tiger. Additional good selections are Leo, Virgo, Scorpio or Pisces-Rams.

Family Life: There is a kind of geometric feeling to their home, lacking, perhaps, in the curvy proportions. Black and white are favorite colors or, where more than that is needed, the basic colors. Nothing bright is needed. The Capricorn-Boar is active and as a result does not generally have a large family. There is a very real possibility they will remain single. The Capricorn-Boar is relatively basic in many areas of the home. They do not need to have an overboard amount of comfort, for example. The basics will do just fine.

Likelihood: This combination has a genius at seeing and interpreting the world that gives them a special vision and special insights. What they lack in abstract skills they make up for in emotional skills. As a boss this combination would be hardnosed. If an employee betrayed them, there will be hell to pay; several times over. The Capricorn-Boar is a people watcher and learns when observing. They are also usually heavy readers. The result of this is kind of interesting because it brings about a person who is like a mirror of the world or the individuals in it. They are superb at this. While they are not particularly creative themselves, they can show emotions, speak in public and generally move people greatly.

Famous Capricorn/Boars: Albert Schweitzer, Humphrey Bogart, Will Rogers, Roland Petit.