

Chinese and Western Combinations

Capricorn (Buffalo) Month

Combination with Rabbit Year:

"Utilize" Saturn, Earth, Cardinal

"Withdraw" Yin-Negative Wood

Characteristics: Epicureanism, Self-Doubt, Longevity, Complexity, Pedantry, Generosity, Hypochondria, Dependability, Loneliness, Clumsiness, Finesse, Prudence, Dilettantism, Ambition, Resolve, Stiffness, Squeamishness, Retention, Ambition, Virtue, Tact, Wisdom, Secretiveness, Superiority

One thing that is sure and steady for this combination, as well as highly meticulous, is their decision making; this is true particularly on significant issues. That quality, perhaps more than anything else, is what puts financial security firmly within reach. The Capricorn-Rabbit has a lot of dreams and goals. Fortunately for them, they also have the talent and ability to achieve most of them. There might be a Rabbit in the mix here, but the progress is slow and steady. The destination is quite clear, however. There is a very high likelihood that this combination will be successful and prosperous. The ability, for sure, is there. However, this combination is blessed with many more assets to support them on their road to success. They are willing to do the grunt work to make sure that their views are verified. And after the grunt work, they do even more. The Capricorn-Rabbit is self-motivated and energetic. In addition, this individual is well liked. They are a bit on the extroverted side, especially for a Rabbit, and enjoying socializing with friends or family. They like to share their lives and hobnob with their buddies. They do not hold forth in a discussion or try to upstage anyone. Being comfortable and relaxed is important to them. That might include experiments, field studies, data collection or mock-ups; but it will be done and it will be done correctly. On top of this they are wise and have excellent vision and intuition. They can spot opportunities and dangers from miles away. Their caution runs across the entire spectrum from business to relationships.

Romance: This combination likes to know a person's inner workings and they like to know them thoroughly. In spite of their reserve and pragmatism, they have a fondness for the unusual and out of the ordinary; it may be for the beatnik or the eccentric poet. They find this something of keen interest and want to have a deeper understanding. That interest is so appealing to this combination that it might last a lifetime. This combination is reserved in the area of displays of affection. The Capricorn-Rabbit is not likely to parade about draped around their partner. They are basically pragmatists and want pragmatic partners.

Relationships: Because the Capricorn-Rabbit has a strong distaste for problems, it is best for compatibility if they stay away from the Gemini, Cancer and Libra-Rooster. Perhaps even worse choices are the Cancer and Libra-Rat as well as Tigers or Dragons from these signs. The premium choices in romance for the Capricorn-Rabbit are Taurus, Leo, Virgo, Scorpio and Pisces-Dogs. Additional fine selections are Taurus, Leo and Virgo-Boars. For the more creative minded, good picks are the Leo, Virgo and Pisces-Ram.

Family Life: This combination has a need to have the right appearances for those who know them. They do not want things to be unseemly. It would be misleading to say that the Capricorn-Rabbit is banal and middle class. They are a cut above that, but not by much. They love their children and care for them deeply. They must, however, live up to the right image or there will be sparks. The Capricorn-Rabbit want a home that is comfortable but things do not stop there. While this combination can be very modest and down to earth in a social situation, they want to impress people. This results in a home that is showy because they want people to recognize they are ambitious and have standing. Unfortunately there is a bit of arrogance in the Capricorn-Rabbit. Their homes end up being luxurious, albeit in a comfortable manner. It is true that they want people to be at ease, but they also want people to notice their paintings. Their antique vases must be on mahogany shelves, of course.

Likelihood: This combination must have social acceptance and their membership in the country club. This is the type of individual who is precise about their paperwork, their taxes and their reputations. Searching their files or even hiring a private investigator will produce nothing. They are clean. The type of profession that is best for the Capricorn-Rabbit is one that requires a serious personality and ambition.

Famous Capricorn/Rabbits: Henry Miller, Joseph Stalin, Cary Grant, Fritz Mondale, Judith Krantz.