The energetic Gemini tilts some of those things that are a bit sluggish because of the offsets some of the sluggish Boar nature towards a positive direction. As with other Gemini combinations, it is hard to thwart them to the point where they will not try again. The Gemini-Boar is an excellent combination with many positive characteristics. Some of the negative aspects of each sign are mitigated by the balanced influence of the complimentary sign. This combination is careful but highly flexible. The Boar adds bulk to that nature so that they can blast their way through problems they cannot circumvent. There is, however, the emotional element that is found in most Boars. The stodginess of the Boar is relieved by the gift of humor from the Gemini too. The Gemini-Boar has a quick mind, especially when it comes to problem solving. They have an analytical mind in spite of the occasional weekend in Fantasy Land.

Romance: Sometimes this is because they fall for the package instead of what is in it. Sometimes it is because there is nothing in the package even though it is wrapped well. Fortunately for the Gemini-Boar, there is a strong streak of individualism and they can handle being alone. There is a good person here who unfortunately has a serious problem in the realm of love. Not only do they fall in love easily, but also they fall in love with the wrong person in many cases.

Relationships: Poor choices are a Virgo and Sagittarius-Monkey for this combination. Caution is in order with a Pisces-Rooster. Avoid the Virgo, Scorpio or Pisces-Snake. Fine selections for the Gemini-Boar are the Aries, Libra and Aquarius-Rabbit. Difficulties might arise financially with the Leo and Aquarius-Ram. However, a Libra-Buffalo is a real possibility.

Family Life: This combination makes excellent parents and they become involved in the children's lives in a positive way. Because of their ability to problem solve, they tend to have fewer serious problems and a more stable environment. The entire extended family is frequently involved in many aspects of life, including holidays and celebrations. The family life of a Gemini-Boar, after finally finding an appropriate partner, is generally happy. This combination is excellent in terms of taking care of the home front and the family at large.

Likelihood: This combination is, for the most part, fortunate in many aspects of life. Success is written all over the Gemini-Boar; particularly that of the financial variety. You name it and they have the ability. Furthermore, they have the ability not just to do this well, but also to do it happily and to make those they associate with happy. They can manage, organize, sell, bargain, negotiate and be responsible.
