

Chinese and Western Combinations

Gemini (Horse) Month

Combination with Buffalo Year:

"Reflect" Mercury, Air, Mutable

"Survivor" Yin-Negative Water

Characteristics: Performance, Versatility, Dexterity, Self-Deception, Inconstancy, Glibness, Plodding, Quick-Wittedness, Impatience, Innovation, Diligence, Bias, Perspicacity, Standoffishness, Flexibility, Superficiality, Stubbornness, Indecisiveness, Integrity, Strength of Purpose, Bigotry, Vindictiveness, Eloquence, Stability

About the time a person thinks they are talking to a bore, they will be introduced to the other twin; the one who is anything but boring. Yes, they once actually did scale Mount Everest. In the long run then, the communicator, who in this case is the other twin, is revealed. But, like anyone who scales Mount Everest, they need to know each step of the way and keep their feet firmly planted on the ground. The philosophically minded Gemini is not lost, but there is not likely to be a Ph.D. dissertation on the Metaphysical Implications of the Fibonacci Spirals either. All of this is to say that with the Gemini-Buffalo, what you see is not what you get. This Gemini is one who is different than others; different from what we expect because of a mixing of the shooting star with the solid earth. While this combination is not exactly 1960s TV show "Father Knows Best", the Gemini-Buffalo is a family oriented Gemini, as unusual as that may sound.

Romance: Forget any other concepts of love. That there are two, or twin parts, to any Gemini is a function of the basic character of this sign. The Gemini-Buffalo loves home and family life, but there is a completely hidden side to their nature. They are also sexually driven and that drive extends well beyond their own back yards. It should not come as surprising that there is a bifurcation of love for the Gemini-Buffalo. Even though, in part, these two sides seem wildly contradictory, they do exist side by side in this combination. For this combination there is sexual love and there is family love.

Relationships: For this combination the bad ideas for compatibility are the Virgo, Capricorn, Sagittarius or Pisces Tiger or Ram. Pisces-Monkeys are a poor choice as well. Aries-Rats, Snakes and Roosters would be fine sections in terms of romance. The Leo-Snake or Leo-Rat are fine too, as is the Libra-Rat or Rooster. Additionally Aquarius-Rats, Snakes and Roosters are appealing.

Family Life: This combination is not particularly industrious, but their home is their non-sentient love. It might even be their first love and there is some possibility it is their only long-term love. The Gemini-Buffer love their home environment and everything about it. So, perhaps in that sense, there is a third kind of love for this combination. Love in this case means comfort and quality. From accoutrements to rooms, from furniture to electronics, this home has everything and it is dusted, polished and ready to use.

Likelihood: If you like sarcasm, then you will love the vicious tongue of this combination. Few, however, enjoy that. Some of these apparent negatives do have a plus side. This combination accomplishes things. In addition, they are intelligent and deep. There are positive aspects about the Gemini-Buffer, like their steadfast responsibility, and there are qualities that are less than desirable. They are not just hardnosed; they can be way overboard in terms of demands. Given their awkward stance on love, it should not be shocking to note that they are not mushy and lovey-dovey.

Famous Gemini/Buffer: William Butler Yeats, William Styron, Colleen McCullough, Waylon Jennings.