

Chinese and Western Combinations

Libra (Dog) Month

Combination with Dragon Year:

"Steady" Venus, Air, Cardinal

"Take Charge" Yang-Positive Wood

Characteristics: Enthusiasm, Sentimentality, Braggadocio, Volubility, Infatuation, Idealism, Mistrust, Pluck, Dissatisfaction, Indecision, Good Charm, Talkativeness, Strength, Rigidity, Success, Equilibrium, Procrastination, Self-Indulgence, Gentility, Justice, Quarrelsomeness, Manipulation, Aesthetics, Health

This combination is most certainly not the shy type, largely because there are some mismatches in character here. There is a potential storm brewing but the Libra-Dragon often averts it and leads a charmed and lucky life. This is a moderate to strong clash of signs dialectically speaking. The Libra element can figure out a method for getting its way but always wants things balanced. The Dragon adds mistrust as well as a demand to be noticed. The natural tact of the Libra often allows them to calm the storm. Much of the time however, the Dragon will hear nothing of this. The Dragon, of course, has a particularly loud voice and is not afraid to use it to inform others it is right. Energy is expended, but there might be some debate as to whether it is wasted. The reason for this is that the Libra-Dragon clash, as often as not, passes the test of success. They are highly creative and this quality helps in every manner of accomplishment. As if all this was not enough, they also happen to be a high-energy combination that works hard for what they have and what they want. In the end, therefore, and in spite of dialectical considerations to the contrary, this is a combination that does what it needs to do and gets what it wants in life. While they can be almost shameless in that pursuit, results are achieved.

Romance: This combination demands total focus, appreciation, compliments and a person to bounce their ideas off of. Anyone not ready, willing and able to provide these attentions is simply not suitable for them. Consequently, being the partner of a Libra-Dragon can be exhausting and difficult work. Nevertheless, most seem to find a more than suitable partner and tend to live somewhat happily ever after. The romantic life of a Libra-Dragon is a bit of a roller coaster ride. They certainly do not like to be tied down too early in life and love to play the field. After some time doing that, there is a good likelihood that they will find an excellent match. Extending the period prior to tying the knot is the fact that this combination is not easily satisfied. The primary attribute they demand is attention. Actually, that is a bit of an understatement.

Relationships: For this combination poor selections are Aries, Cancer or Capricorn-Rabbits or Dogs. Totally out of the running are Cancer-Buffalos. Excellent love and romance choices are Gemini, Leo, Sagittarius or Aquarius- Rats. Additional picks are Gemini, Leo and Aquarius-Monkey individuals. The good choices continue with Leo and Sagittarius-Roosters as well as Leo-Snakes.

Family Life: This combination makes fine parents. Part of this relates to the fact the Libra-Dragons like to be looked up to by anyone, but especially by their children. Of course teens are not well known for looking up to their parents so there will probably be some of the usual difficulties there. The Libra-Dragon knows what they want in terms of clothing and décor in their home. They tend to do both well, even though their physical appearance is not necessarily what everyone wants. They are the sort of person who can project themselves onto their world because of their fine taste and awareness of aesthetics. They do this so well that it is actually an advantage in their lives.

Likelihood: This combination is destined for success. Perhaps one area where they are lacking a bit is the area of patience, but that is not a major obstacle. They make good managers and co-workers who are popular among those they work with. The Libra-Dragon is generally a totally terrific employee. They can work and run circles around most and they have a vim and vigor that is awesome to behold. This is true regardless of what profession they undertake: from the classroom to the boardroom, from the outer space to the factory. They are so good at so much that they will probably not remain a lower tier employee for long.

Famous Libra/Dragons: Nietzsche, Sarah Bernhardt, Graham Greene, John Lennon, Rex Reed, Angie Dickinson, Christopher Reeve.