This combination has a high level of appeal to everyone. It could, for example, begin with their awesome sense of humor. Something about the Libra-Tiger will grab people's attention though, regardless of what it is. The frosting on the cake, however, and what everyone notices, is their fundamental cuteness. The Libra-Tiger is a unique, one of a kind combination. From the moment you meet this combination you will be won over completely. It seems at times as though their mission in life is to make others happy. While some may perceive them as disingenuous, the fact is they win others over. They are delightful and charming. This group has many friends and admirers and is esteemed by all. . As a rule though, they do walk the walk and are happy about helping others, being kind and doing the right thing. This is not to be understood as having reverence for the establishment or a conservative worldview. Quite the contrary is the case. They are hugely impertinent and break social mores at every opportunity. They are successful though because of their charm and their work ethic. There is sort of a magic about them, but alas, magic usually involves tricks. They are not hypocrites or fakes though. They work hard in the world and pay their dues. It is just that concrete solid self-confidence that can feel a bit over the top to some.

Romance: This combination is sensitive, but oddly enough they can seem a bit hostile and aggressive at times. Overall, however, they are among the coolest of the combinations in terms of dress, composure and flair. This combination is excellent for many other combinations because of its overall balance. Libra-Tigers are excellent partners and have a sweet disposition. They tend toward placing a value on being romantic. The sexual aspect of romance is ample, but it is certainly not at the top of their list of priorities.

Relationships: Poor choices for this combination in compatibility are Aries, Cancer or Capricorn-Rabbits. Additional unwise selections are Aries-Snakes. Capricorn and Cancer-Buffalos as well as Rams are totally off the list of possibilities. Some superb choices for a partner are the Gemini, Leo, Sagittarius or Aquarius who are Dogs. Sagittarius and Aquarius-Dragons are also fine.

Family Life: This combination makes for good parents who are caring and thoughtful. They set a good example and are fun for the children at the same time. The Libra-Tiger loves their home totally and completely. In fact, they may love it just a tad too much if one judges things on a financial basis. Plainly put, they spend a lot of money on their home. They want nothing but the best and nothing short of a sumptuous environment will satisfy them. They adorn not just the big picture at home but the details as well. Everything from the knobs on the faucets to the hinges on the doors has to be first class.

Likelihood: On top of everything, the Libra-Tiger is a charmer. They are capable of using this quality in conjunction with their hard work to better themselves and to help their family. They are ready, willing and able to take leadership roles. Libra-Tigers are excellent workers and are happy to do more than their share. They pitch in and help when needed and do it with a sense of caring. They have a lot of energy.
