

Chinese and Western Combinations

Pisces (Rabbit) Month

Combination with Ram Year:

"Faith" Neptune, Water, Mutable

"Reliance" Yang-Negative Fire

Characteristics: Whimsy, Spirituality, Impracticality, Indecision, Worry, Rage, Good Manners, Pessimism, Awareness, Fearfulness, Taste, Smugness, Perception, Perseverance, Tardiness, Compatibility, Lack of Will, Sensitivity, Lack of Foresight, Understanding, Creativity, Invention, Diffidence, Parasitism

This combination is extremely bright and they have an ability to apply their talents to real situations. They also happen to be quite romantic. It is the hypersensitivity that is the most significant aspect of their personality. That might lead one to think that it was a liability so great that they could not function in the world. The Pisces-Ram is doubly sensitive because they acquire that from both aspects of their combination. The strongest aspect of this combination is their sensitivity, but they do have some other really good and helpful traits. Pisces-Ram is among the strongest of the Pisces signs. That is the case because in the Pisces-Ram, the Ram has a strong influence; so much so that it gives the more emotional and sensitive Pisces strength. They need the strength emanating from the Ram in order to deal with more aggressive combinations. In the end, there is sensitivity coupled with power which is a fairly good balance overall. Furthermore, this is necessary because the Pisces-Ram has an astrological geography such that it is likely they will be connected, in some fashion, to a more powerful combination.

Romance: This combination is generally good at procrastinating with long-term commitments. Eventually, however, they will find the right match and settle down. The right match is probably in the tough guy category of people. They need someone like that to give them direction. They also need someone to care for and to help them. This individual is passionate when they make love. The earth moves and golden stars fall from the heavens. The Pisces-Ram loves and when they do it is written in stone. They tend to be a bit reluctant about falling in love in the first place, but once they do this combination is not about to stop loving. There is no doubt though, that there is a rather wide spread between the Pisces aspect and the Ram aspect in their combination.

Relationships: Negativity for compatibility begins to set in with Aries, Gemini and Virgo-Buffalos in this combination. Out of the question are Virgo-Dogs who do not much like Pisces-Rams anyway. In the realm of romance the Taurus, Cancer, Scorpio or Capricorn-Rabbits are great selections. Horses from the same signs are also fine for love and marriage. Also making the list of positive selections are Taurus, Scorpio or Capricorn-Boars. But that is not all, as Scorpio-Rams are excellent in having fun and perhaps love as well.

Family Life: The Pisces-Ram is on the handy side and good with their hands even though they are not practical. They will probably execute some home improvement projects themselves. In the area of children, there is no disputing the deep love they feel. This person, however, is somewhat on the impatient side and can get testy when interrupted by the youngsters. Pisces-Rams might actually get to a place where they have a home and family. If they do, the home will be one with opulence in a fabulous environment. This individual will have expensive but uncomfortable furniture. On the other hand, they might simply allow their partner to do the decorating.

Likelihood: There is a chance that the Pisces-Ram will be successful, but they must avoid the half-empty-glass syndrome. Negativity will ruin them. As a boss, this combination functions as a distant relative to an oracle. The Pisces-Ram's ideal profession would be something necessitating travel and imagination. This individual likes to have freedom of movement. Repetitive routine employment is not for them at all. Obviously those who want to have a profession in the arts do not find job searching easy. Starting early and associating themselves with a professional is the best way to succeed.
