

Chinese and Western Combinations

Sagittarius (Rat) Month

Combination with Boar Year:

"Witness" Jupiter, Fire, Mutable

"Cultivator" Yin-Negative Water

Characteristics: Contradiction, Reason, Boarheadedness, Honesty, Solicitude, Materialism, Culture, Gourmandism, Carelessness, Valor, Vacillation, Bad Manners, Sincerity, Credulity, Hesitation, Honor, Gallantry, Openhandedness, Recklessness, Wrath, Cheerfulness, Scrupulousness, Outspokenness, Voluptuousness

This combination's exceptional abilities of observation originate from the fact that they are artists; well-liked artists at that. Their forte in the aesthetic arena is social commentary. They find and reveal the weaknesses of society, but generally do this in a humorous manner. In addition they do not mind showing that they are human and deserving of some social irreverence as well. The Sagittarius-Boar appears to be above the fray. They are, after all, also principled and moral. Moral condemnation cannot touch them and consequently their reputation is excellent. They have fantastic vision when it comes to their surroundings and distance themselves from unsavory issues. Their vision is so acute that the Sagittarius-Boar can see patterns and tendencies when others cannot. They are honest and straight forward as well as trustworthy and that is the source of their popularity. In addition they have a true interest in other people. The result is often the brightest star in the galaxy. Their popularity extends far and wide and no one seems to be paranoid or suspicious of them. They are exceedingly popular even though often they are not the most physically attractive of people. It is simply that they are caring and kind individuals and their moral principles shine through their physical nature.

Romance: The primary motive for marriage in this combination is generally respect; especially respect of the intellect. A partner for the Sagittarius-Boar must have that. In addition, since they are enormously humorous, a partner needs to have a sense of humor to match. The Sagittarius-Boar falls in love and gets married and generally that is for keeps. They are kind and giving to all, especially their families. It is possible they might stray a bit, but that is generally for reasons other than love and is probably more intellectual than sexual. If they do stray, they are exceptionally careful.

Relationships: To be avoided for compatibility in this combination are Gemini, Virgo and Pisces-Snakes. Further combinations that do not make the list are Gemini-Roosters as well as Virgo-Monkeys. An excellent low maintenance selection for love is the Rabbit who has a peaceful nature. Of the Rabbits, the best selections are the Aries, Leo, Libra or Aquarius. Additional good choices are Leo and Aquarius-Rams.

Family Life: Everything in their home has a function, purpose and place. As parents they are giving and that is true even of time that is so precious to the Sagittarius-Boar. In addition to love, this combination finds their children fascinating and loves to observe them and their interactions as they do enjoy observing everyone. The Sagittarius-Boar needs a home that is compatible with their work. They are exceptionally busy people. They are not concerned about impressing people with luxury, style or décor. They do like objects that have meaning for them in their surroundings, but their primary function is working and that means not just at their formal work place but at home as well. Their desk will be in the place that is the most efficient for them and that is their byword – efficiency.

Likelihood: This combination might be a musician or standup comedian. They have success written all over their persona in this area. They laugh at themselves and make others laugh, but are always tasteful in their humor. As a boss they are always just and giving as well as understanding. There is a perfectionist inside this combination though, so those who work for them must be ready to toe the line. The Sagittarius-Boar has many professional choices. It is likely that their choice will be something in the field of art because of their excellent creative aptitude. But that creative aptitude can be located in many different fields of creativity. They could turn to the field of entertainment in its many forms or other spheres where creativity is needed; advertising for example.

Famous Sagittarius/Boars: Hector Berlioz, Noel Coward, Phil Donahue, Woody Allen, Jules Dassin.