Sagittarius (Rat) Month

Combination with Snake Year:

"Witness" Jupiter, Fire, Mutable

"Feel" Yang-Negative Fire

Characteristics: Compassion, Reason, Exclusiveness, Contradiction, Dissimulation, Sagacity, Carelessness, Cupidity, Honor, Clairvoyance, Laziness, Solicitude, Discretion, Bad Manners, Valor, Presumption, Attractiveness, Openhandedness, Recklessness, Extravagance, Cheerfulness, Intuition, Outspokenness, Vacillation

These individuals carry themselves with poise and bearing. They are extraordinarily well mannered and the pinnacles of virtue. If one were to look up the word sophisticated in the dictionary, there would be a picture of a Sagittarius-Snake. Perhaps the word attentive best summarizes the Sagittarius-Snake. This is a combination that cares deeply about others in general and those they love in particular. It is not just people that they care for but inanimate objects as well. They are attentive when it comes to their home, their office or their yard. This combination is a high-class article with a discount price. They are well spoken and delicate with the tone of their voice. There is a very good chance this combination will succeed beyond anything anyone in his or her family ever has or ever imagined. Idealism is a big motivator for them and it often pushes them upward. They work; they believe and rise up through the ranks. They are the type who speaks softly but carries a big stick. People pay attention to them. They do not announce themselves with bugles and marching bands. The Sagittarius-Snake does not attack head on. This combination is a reasonable person with emphasis on the word - reason. They can use logic to figure things out, explain them and communicate.

Romance: This combination is a supremely dedicated spouse with a great deal of class. This sort of person is wonderful, but of course requires reciprocation that is equally as wonderful. That means pressure to be virtuous. The Sagittarius-Snake takes their time in making a marriage commitment. It is possible that they have a long live-together relationship before marriage. They are the quiet type and sometimes their partners wonder what is going on with them. The fact is that they are very loyal and faithful partners and would never get involved in betrayal or an extramarital affair because they find it disgusting and unseemly.

Relationships: Probably not especially good suggestions for compatibility in this combination are Virgos, Gemini and Pisceans. This is doubly true of the Gemini-Monkey, Virgo-Tiger and Boar, and Pisces-Tiger, Monkey and Boar. First class relationship possibilities are Leo, Libra and Aquarius-Buffalos. Further fine picks are Aries and Aquarius-Roosters.

Family Life: This combination will have no part of anything that is not authentic. There is no flash and no glitter about this individual. As parents they are superb. They care and are creative. There is a tad of doting in their parenting but this stems from caring. This combination insists on an aesthetically pleasing home. In addition to that, it must be real and perhaps a bit understated. There is no nouveau about it. The antiques that they are fond of are precisely that - antiques. Everything surrounding them is the real McCoy; including jewelry, art and kitchenware.

Likelihood: As bosses this combination are good at delegating authority. They are fair and make for wonderful employees or bosses. The Sagittarius-Snake does, however, get frustrated if all its ducks are not lined up properly. Professions in the area of caring are right up this combination's alley, because that is their hallmark. They are excellent with people. They also have good organizational abilities. The paperwork often associated with such professions does not bother them because they are meticulous and pay attention to details. Tricky situations between individuals can generally be dealt with in a soft spoken and tactful manner.
