

Chinese and Western Combinations

Scorpio (Boar) Month

Combination with Dragon Year:

"Form" Mars, Water, Fixed

"Take Charge" Yang-Positive Wood

Characteristics: Enthusiasm, Intransigence, Discipline, Sentimental, Tenderness, Suspicion, Fanaticism, Success, Inspiration, Dedication, Revenge, Magnetism, Good Health, Braggadocio, Rigidity, Pluck, Mistrust, Mercilessness, Strength, Sovereignty, Infatuation, Dissatisfaction, Sadism

This combination has this reputation of being extravagant and they are, most certainly, overstated. The presentation too is one of being piquant and, to put it more roughly, hot. The reason for this is that the combination brings out the ultimate in the portions it was mixed with. The Scorpio-Dragon is a high flying combination and a fragrant mixture. This combination has an air of inscrutability from the Scorpio and, of course, mercilessness too. There is a kind of larger than life persona here, but not in the ordinary sense. There is no Dragon like this Dragon and no Scorpio like this Scorpio. The Scorpio-Dragon meets perhaps more than their fair share. While they are ambitious they are mildly prone to giving up; to throwing in the towel; to abandoning the ship. Most, however, keep both the towel and the ship and keep on moving on toward their destiny; one that is filled with riches, status and, with some luck, happiness too. They are ambitious and head straight for what they desire. Their huge charisma will help get them there. They are so ambitious that they can have nearly anything they desire; at least that is what they think. There is a rather large obstacle in all this optimism and wealth. Life for everyone has difficulties and challenges.

Romance: The way to keep the Scorpio-Dragon in line is to first recognize how beautiful and wonderful they are and show it. Next, just be extremely relaxed and have a sort of planned attitude of not particularly caring what they do. They have enough jealousy for two individuals anyway, so that too can be used as a preventative. The Scorpio-Dragon is a sexual creature and it is fairly easy for them to carry out that role in their life. They are extremely attractive and sought after by many. If that is not enough, they also are well aware of this fact. It is possible, because they do tend to enjoy being unpredictable, for them to be very faithful and loyal spouses.

Relationships: In general the Dragon is friendly in this combination and appealing to most people. The exceptions for compatibility are the Leo and Aquarius-Boar, the Taurus and the Leo- Rabbit, and Taurus, Leo and Aquarius-Dog. Fine picks for love and romance are the Virgo, Capricorn or Pisces-Boar or Monkey. Near the top of the list are Cancer, Capricorn and Pisces-Tigers. On the more erotic side of the matter, the Cancer-Rat and Pisces-Rat are suggested, as are Cancer and Virgo-Roosters. A superior choice is the Cancer-Snake.

Family Life: This combination enjoys entertaining and has frequent visitors. Their being speaks for itself and they do not need to impress with things or by showing off. They are superior parents and love their children. They do what they can to help their children succeed and that success is very important to the Scorpio-Dragon mom or dad. Comfort is probably the main goal of the Scorpio-Dragon in terms of their home. They are not particularly a handy person nor do they have an especially green thumb. There is no particular reason, in their book, to spend time designing, decorating and improving. If it is comfortable, leave it alone. Cleanliness is, however, important to them, as is neatness.

Likelihood: This combination wants what they want and they want it now. That often means premature celebrations and disappointments. That disappointment comes when this combination does not attain the power that they desire. They need a supporting spouse and some frolicking children to help keep them focused. In their professional life is where the Scorpio-Dragon might run into difficulty. They are intelligent and very educated. The problems are twofold though. They can have a fairly wicked tongue and, most importantly, they can stop or give up too quickly.

Famous Scorpio/Dragons: Walter Cronkite, Francois Mitterrand.