"Study" Mercury, Earth, Mutable

"Command" Yang-Positive Fire

Characteristics: Pragmatism, Anxiety, Service, Accomplishment, Autonomy, Unscrupulousness, Rebellion, Popularity, Haste, Persuasiveness, Crankiness, Reserve, Decorum, Selfishness, Meticulousness, Courtesy, Snobbery, Practicality, Dexterity, Style, Nit-Picking, Negativism, Discrimination, Lucidity

This combination then, has a nice balance to it. There is a leveling off of pride but an increase in self-confidence for the Virgo side. The combination is not so prone to go prancing off foolishly thinking it can win every steeplechase. Instead of shyly staying inside, fearful of meeting others or going out and finding fault, the Virgo-Horse carries itself well and proceeds to work toward success. The Virgo-Horse is a combination that can be thought of as smooth because the two aspects not only complement one another, but also help to smooth out rough edges or negative characteristics. The Virgo-Horse has an air of dignity about them. Of course the Horse element makes for hard workers who are vibrant. Horses parade and strut, can be silly and too ardent. The Virgo element adds a portion of inhibition. They hold back and take few chances in life. They are discerning, but frequently fussy. The smoothing influence mentioned above helps minimize the drawbacks in both the Horse and the Virgo. Finally, there is ability and talent, which comes in the bushel full for this combination. The wonderful imagination remains largely intact but creativity does not run amuck. The rebel without a cause undertakes reasonable and acceptable causes. Duty steps to the forefront. The final result is an extremely appealing individual; a modest but self-confident character. All of this lets the natural physical attraction shine through. Rather than the ostentatious attire that some Horses might choose, style wins the day. Charm is allowed to bloom.

Romance: This combination in the lovemaking realm lives up to what the admirers thought they were; remarkable. They are supremely passionate and skilled in the art of love and others seem to know this instinctively. To say that this combination has what it takes in the love and sex appeal category is a gross understatement. People practically worship them. The Virgo-Horse has a romantic air but they exude this monumental seductive personality. Furthermore, that is not merely appearance; it is reality too.

Relationships: Poor partners for compatibility in this combination are Gemini, Sagittarius or Pisces-Rats. Also ruled out are Pisces-Monkeys. Excellent romantic fits are the Taurus, Cancer, Scorpio and Capricorn. The crème of the crop among those are Dogs or Tigers. Also good choices are Scorpio and Cancer-Rams.

Family Life: This combination makes a good mother or father. Family events and kids' activities are frequent. As parents, however, this combination is strict and their children behave themselves. Manners and schoolwork are particularly emphasized. Finally, the Virgo-Horse loves to throw a shindig and they are good at it. This combination tends toward middle class values and that will be evident in the home. Furniture is supposed to be right in the just right home. Finances permitting, there will be domestic help.

Likelihood: This combination can be in politics or other realms in public life, which are strong possibilities. Related to this is the fact that they are creative, but in this case that means the artistic. Overall they are gifted in many areas, including business. They tend to exceed most regardless of the endeavor of their choice. Virgo-Horses are gifted in public life. This combination has charisma and is able to use their magic before audiences, including large ones. This obviously makes them suitable to be in the spotlight, wherever that may be.

Famous Virgo/Horses: Leonard Bernstein, Vera Miles, Sean Connery, Alan Jay Lerner.
