

Twelve Chinese Animals

Horse

Years: 1906, 1918, 1930, 1942, 1954, 1966, 1978, 1990, 2002, 2014, 2026, 2038, 2050, 2062, 2074, 2086

Horse is Yang and Seventh Sign of the Chinese Horoscope.

Positive Traits: Persuasiveness, Style, Autonomy, Dexterity, Popularity, Accomplishment

Short Comings: Selfishness, Haste, Unscrupulousness, Anxiety, Rebellion, Pragmatism

Black Beauty is one of the most popular Horses to come to mind in the English speaking world. Black Beauty in the cherished stories by Anna Sewell is cheerful, quick-witted and intelligent. These qualities are also shared with Tiger and Dog which makes for good possibilities for successful alliances among these three. Horse people are known as honest folk. They have a very friendly nature and are broad minded enough to accept different natured people and their points of view. It's said that to truly understand another person it is necessary to walk a mile in that persons moccasins. Horse people get that and put it into practice in life's daily situations. Sometimes Horse is seen as being too fond of oneself and will pitch a fit when things don't go in their favor. Horse people are extremely vigorous and physically powerful. Horse people have a witty, extroverted way about them that is accented by a muscular poise. Horse is the action figure of the Chinese Zodiac which always makes them the center of attention especially in competition. Think of the famous American racehorse Seabiscuit. And if that's not enough they are renowned for their wisdom and keen sense of humor. Horse people demonstrate horse sense which is manifested in their endeavors whether they are personal business, competition or work related. In the professional world you will find Horse people to be efficient and genial in positions that require them to cooperate with other people. The routine job is not one for which Horse is particularly suited. Horses special characteristics empower Horse people to accept almost any task and excel in its successful completion. Horse people tend to fall in love at first sight deeply. Horse does not understand that falling fast and hard is wishful thinking in action minus the thinking part. This new love object will fulfill Horses deepest needs and desires. Stay tuned for the next edition in the never-ending series of "How the Horse Learned to Discern Lust and Longing from True Caring and Sincerity". Horse people are fonts of innovative techniques for solving tricky and sticky problems. When they have an idea, they want to put it in action this moment. Horse people work around the clock until they are satisfied with a job well done. Horse wants you to come to cut to the chase quickly because although time is on their side they don't have time to waste. They'll respect your input but time is precious so be succinct. Horses have got to learn to live out their emotions appropriately. They are hot-tempered, and impatient. They are perfect candidates for the Inner Smile and Six Healing Sounds. When Horse people sincerely put those meditations, movements and sounds together and live the results they will become Taoists and urge their inner circle to get with the program. Horses like being the hub of the wheel and have the Universe spiraling about them. In return, they work hard and share with everyone. Horse people do not mind starting over. They persevere in their determination and relish fresh challenges.

