Libra people are charismatic and stylish. They are loquacious and classy public speakers. Libras are good looking, graceful, and are sincerely admired. Libra people are the spokespeople for equilibrium, evenhandedness, and teamwork, especially in relationships. Libras are romantic and delightful, good company and Libras enjoy social outings to the max. They are on occasion interfering perfectionists and this is not so charming. It's good to love oneself but not to the point of obsession. Libra people live to be in positions of public service especially if it increases their popularity. Librans love being adorned in the height of fashion. Libras don't function well under pressure; unhurried and intelligent planning keeps the scales level. Libras bask in attention, and are favorably recognized in debates be they social or formal, public encounters. Libra people do not appreciate criticism of their work or presentations. Equilibrium, balance of Yin and Yang are the hallmarks of Libra. Libra people are experts at hiding their frustration and anger. Until there has been such an accumulation that one day there is an explosive outburst way out of proportion (not in balance), stunning the people around because they are accustomed to Libras balance and grace under pressure. Libra people are so attuned to the balance of Yin and Yang that they take to Tai Chi as if it were the ultimate and in a way Tai Chi is the ultimate. Each movement connected with each breath has its Yin phase and its Yang phase. Nowhere is this more evident than in Mantak Chia's Universal Healing Tao teaching of Tai Chi. Libra people appreciate beauty in all that surrounds them. Venus, the goddess of love, rules the Libra sign and that's why Libras value and admire beauty in people and the arts. Libras are compassionate and loving and they are remembered for their kindness and grace. Libras are great charmers and have an ability to make everyone feel at ease with them. Libra is a respectful listener and can offer keen insight into the event or person under consideration. Libra people never want to hurt anyone and are tactful in managing sensitive situations. Libra people treat others with fairness and expect to be treated the same. Libra can give and take both publicly and in intimate relationships. They make for warm friends and love to be in a circle of friends after they've made sure everyone is comfy and included. The Libra color is pink.
