

Sun in Aquarius/Moon in Virgo:

Examiner

Your Virgo Moon provides a fundamental sense of obligation, responsibility, and competence. You tend to hold your affections back for big causes and for humanity as a whole, because you are drawn to the conceptual. Your combination is perfect for medicine, social work, or anything where you need to remain objective relative to the suffering, providing services with reason and detachment. While you share being tolerant, thoughtful and friendly with other Aquarians, you are also very distant. Your objectivity is one of your strong points. While you are sensitive, you are essentially a thinker, and your ability to calmly detach yourself from your surroundings allows you to see things dispassionately. Your powers of scrutiny and insight are matchless. Sadly, a lot of Aquarius-Virgos examine themselves and everyone else straight out of existence. Life is mental rather than the heart and soul for you. You favor the rational approach to life far away from emotional issues. You have a very deep sense of duty. All of those with a Moon in Virgo find their greatest fulfillment in working hard. Keeping active with outside projects is essential for you. Psychosomatic issues can result from overwork or overexposure to tense or stressful situations. Form and structure to Aquarian inspiration and idealism come for the Virgo Moon. Wonderful creative expressions are possible from some individuals because of their intellectual prowess. Gertrude Stein and James Joyce are two examples of Aquarius-Virgos. Romance is not your thing in a relationship because your emotional reserve curbs intimacy. You are a faithful, generous, devoted partner on the positive side. Your combination has a lot of people who go through life feeling somewhat disaffected from those around them, but who are bright and creative. Hazy beliefs of superiority might cause you to have a conceited or superior attitude. Avoid insulating yourself behind a barrier of intellectual aloofness and relate to all kinds of people. Because you are so insightful you may become very critical, uptight, and easily disgruntled when things do not live up to your expectations. Accuracy and precision are your goals, but do not let them dominate you. A more broadminded and stress-free outlook needs developing or you will undergo a lot of stress.
