

Sun in Aries/Moon in Libra:

Rebellious Without Cause

You are the type of person who practically rejects reason and even good advice in favor of intuition and impulse. If romance or adventure comes your way, you may very well drop everything and pursue it. You have a three dimensional personality that attracts others because you are quite intelligent and have so much vitality. In many ways you are precisely the adventurer and pathfinder that you believe yourself to be. You are the type who actually does go out and discover what you want and are not one who just sits and dreams. It does not matter if others have discovered things before you, you want to make your own map and discover them for yourself because of your natural curiosity. You probably have, as an Aries-Libra, a million projects going at the same time in order to placate your independent spirit. You are an extreme individualist and you want to find out about life and yourself - but on your own terms and in your own peculiar way. In that quest, you will leave no stone unturned. Sometimes you seem insensitive, but the fact is that you are not. It is simply a matter of you having difficulty cooperating with others sometimes because you prefer your own vision and your own way. A sedentary job sitting behind a desk is not for you because in spite of your intelligence, you usually have trouble concentrating. Real accomplishment might be difficult because your determination can get you into trouble. Dissatisfaction can set in along with anxiety in spite of your desire for challenges. Aries-Libra people have an excellent sense of aesthetics and therefore something in the field of art, design or other visual art might be worthwhile for some. Such a vocation is practically perfect because it can satisfy your need for change, both in terms of art itself, but also your needs for travel and challenges. You have difficulty focusing and this leads to an anxiety and restlessness, which make it hard for you to see things through. Consequently, responsibility can be an issue. Your wanderlust is a disguise for shying away from your responsibilities and even yourself. The solution is simple. Seek out an occupation that gives you the excitement and change you need. A careful and astute partner who keeps your impulses checked is best, but working alone is possible.
