

Sun in Capricorn/Moon in Sagittarius:

Carefree

Although you are subject to intermittent periods of depression and sadness, you never lose your basic sense of humor. Your witty, casual comments always hit the target. You are probably the most balanced of any of the Sun-Moon-combinations. You have a wide range of activities and projects. Your profession has to be inside an organized and conventional structure like most Capricorns, but your Sagittarian inner aspect desires adventure and excitement. The Sagittarius part of you is liberal, creative, and freedom loving, while your Capricorn is resolute, determined and somewhat distant. You have both the resolve and the intelligence to achieve a great deal and you set long-term goals for yourself. Your allure and casual manner enthrall people. You are much less reserved, and much more sociable, than other Capricorns. You also enjoy having a good time, but are a serious and goal-oriented individual. You appear removed, but it does not require much to bring out your ironic smile. It is critical that your job be fulfilling as well as it enhances your prestige, because you are very aware of social standing. You must have the liberty to do what you want to because you value your personal freedom. Never happy unless you are the boss, your willpower and intelligence typically take you right to the pinnacle. Your mind is rational, well organized and sensible, but insight is one of your utmost gifts. You go through impulsive and across-the-board moods as do all Moon in Sagittarius people. You can quickly become an impetuous and adventurous drifter right after being serious and determined for a while. There are times when your moods and visions carry you away and induce you to forget your plans. To direct some of that impatience and inquisitiveness, you need a lot of distraction and external activity. Your need to travel is virtually a requirement for your emotional stability. You respect tradition while you try to see tomorrow's needs and thus you are the perfect long-term planner. You have a learned and philosophical aura. Perhaps while young you were troubled and had it difficult, but you still acquired a strong intellectual curiosity. You love to experiment with theoretical concepts and analysis. Thus, philosophy attracts you because you want to find truth and a perfect structure with which to manage your life. You would never partake of callous behavior in your search for status and esteem because you are very ethical.
