

Sun in Pisces/Moon in Gemini:

Crafty Rascal

You are very charming in your sly manner, and a great comedian. You acquire friends very easily and need them because, after all, you may need help getting out of the problems you are always having. Another thing you need is your intuition, which also helps you get by. The fact is that although you are clever, you just lack common sense. Scheming is one of your avocations. You change yourself so often that it is hard for people to know the real you because you are more like three or four people than one. A good intelligence, astonishing intuition, and cleverness come from your combination. You are a great character-player, award winning actor and con artist above all else. Your wits will take you far in life. You know just what people want and you are bright and very flexible. You will play any role just to give others what they want. You never stop moving and your Gemini Moon provides that restless and feisty nature. On average you might have a dozen ideas, inventions, or ostentatious projects in the works, but you are so flighty that it is unusual for one of them to be completed. Indecisiveness and indecision curse the Pisces-Gemini. Setting an objective, or expressing your convictions is hard for you. You are never certain if your latest idea is yours, or if you have unintentionally gotten it from someone else. This is because you are so impressionable. The question you often ask yourself is where are you going. You need to establish your own identity. Deep introspection is great, but the key is to be more disciplined. Cultivate a little patience and control your edgy spirit. Clarify your objectives and stick to them. You are inconsistent in romance, as in all things, and generally have several affairs in progress at once. You truly fall for whoever is nearest. Your actions can at times be very cold and heartless even though you have a bighearted nature. The path is clear to a successful love relationship after you have become more contented with your own individuality. You need to be in an ordered working and living atmosphere. Most importantly, be sure that those around you are positive for you since you soak up the texture and mood of your environment. Do not get near con artists or unpredictable people. You are a conceptual individual, and your solution to a problem is frequently the most innovative. A lot of your tactics and thoughts are in fact quite resourceful. You must work with a person who has the level-headedness to bring some of them to completion. There is no telling what you may achieve together in the event you connect with such an associate.
