

Sun in Scorpio/Moon in Aries:

Dude

You never lose faith in yourself and you are sensual and almost decadent. It does not matter how many times you are set back. People respect you regardless of this, just because you have self-respect. Your purposefulness, strength, and confidence are admired. Furthermore, your combination provides you with incredible powers of insight and intelligence. Of course, how you decide to use these abilities is up to you. You always have an objective or goal in view and are sober and focused. The planet of war, Mars, is the ruler of both signs of your combination, and that gives you a very autonomous and aggressive viewpoint. The word that best fits you is egocentric, because no matter how kind and sympathetic you may seem on the outside, you always look out for yourself first and foremost. Regardless of the number of friends you may have, you stay basically a loner, following your own carefully chosen path. There is no need to justify your existence. Your incredible resourceful, spiritual, and leadership ability can only be used when you recognize that others also deserve to have opinions. You should learn to detach yourself a bit more from your activities because material success is so important to you. Rather than losing your temper or anxiously sulking, try to just relax and see the problem from afar the next time you face defeat or aggravation. Even when it comes to yourself, attempt to have a more open-minded, tolerant attitude. Your combination is perfect for commerce, administration, and leadership positions in general when it comes to a profession. There are basically two types of Scorpio-Aries; one is kindhearted, spiritual, and compassionate and the other, the more usual kind, is self-embellishing, caring only about enriching their own life with material acquisition and the realization of power. Either type possesses the tenacity, willpower, and courage to be successful. Provided that the person is not victimized by their own tragic flaws, extreme pride, bigotry, impatience, and conceit are the character that warp your perceptions and cause you to undergo defeat and frustration. Compromise with you is extremely difficult. Obstinate you believe you are your own boss, and when you run into disapproval or disagreement in your work or love life, you are very offended. You need to learn to be flexible sometimes and to work in conjunction with those around you.
